Recent Milestones

- In partnership with the U.S. Air Force, we recently completed successful F-22 flight test demonstrations for advanced sensors, a key milestone to extending the Raptor’s sight and enabling next-gen sensor technology for future air combat.
- The F-22 fleet reached 500,000 flight hours this June. We celebrated every flight hour as an investment for the future and thanked the entire industry and Air Force team for making this milestone possible.
